Miller is ranked as the No. 20 defensive lineman and No. 119 overall prospect in the 2022 class. He visited Ohio State on the first day after the recruiting dead period ended, going to the June 1-2 camp in Columbus. Later in the month, he also visited both Georgia's and USC's campuses.

The 6-4, 285-pound prospect currently has six crystal ball predictions on 247Sports, five of which are in favor of USC and one of which is in favor of Georgia. The one for the Bulldogs, by Georgia insider Kipp Adams, is from more than five months back on Feb. 17, while the rest are between June 14 and July 5 of this year.

On April 13, Miller tweeted out a photo that stated that Ohio State was with Georgia and USC as the three clear leaders in his recruitment, but the four-star defensive lineman also just received an offer from the Ducks on July 21, and it was enough for him to include Oregon among this top four.

Currently, Ohio State's top-ranked 2022 class is without a defensive lineman commitment.
