

BSB Reprints: Ohio State Reveals Plans To Build Schottenstein Center

[image_with_animation image_url="26393" alignment="" animation="None" img_link_target="_blank" border_radius="none" box_shadow="none" max_width="100%" img_link="https://www.buckeyesports.com/reports/BSBReprints_1995_Arenas.pdf"]

Like it or not, 25 years ago Ohio State revealed its plans to build a new basketball and hockey arena.

While the Buckeyes' $75 million facility has faced its fair share of critics since its inception, it is undoubtedly a part of the school's illustrious history.

This installment of BSB Reprints features our in-depth coverage of the plans to build the Schottenstein Center, with a story on the coaches' praise, in addition to a story on the building schemes for the adjacent Bill Davis Stadium.

[divider line_type="No Line" custom_height="60"]
[nectar_btn size="large" open_new_tab="true" button_style="regular" button_color_2="Accent-Color" icon_family="default_arrow" url="https://www.buckeyesports.com/reports/BSBReprints_1995_Arenas.pdf" text="Download PDF"]
[divider line_type="Full Width Line" line_thickness="2" divider_color="default"]
[nectar_btn size="jumbo" button_style="regular" button_color_2="Accent-Color" icon_family="none" url="http://www.buckeyesports.com/boards/" text="Join The Conversation"]pdf