

Buckeye Sports Bulletin 2020 NFL Draft Hub

The 2020 NFL Draft is just about to kick off, which means that more than a dozen former Ohio State players are set to find their new teams at the next level in the coming days. With Buckeyes expected to come off the board in essentially every round, it can be easy to lose track of who goes where, and that's where BSB comes in.

With up-to-the-minute news on where every Buckeye lands, featuring full stories for each player drafted and signed in the coming days, we have you covered for keeping tabs on Ohio State football's newest alumni.

On top of the breaking news, we've also put together comprehensive scouting reports for each Buckeye that could hear his name called this year, including a play-style breakdown, and a projection for the system that would fit them best at the next level.

For all things Ohio State in this year's draft, including a mock draft roundup and our own projections, BSB has you covered.

With the selections of Chase Young and Jeff Okudah in the first round, Ohio State has surpassed USC for the most first-round selections of all-time.

DE Chase Young, 1.02, Washington Redskins: Scouting Report

CB Jeff Okudah, 1.03, Detroit Lions: Scouting Report

CB Damon Arnette, 1.19, Las Vegas Raiders: Scouting Report

RB J.K. Dobbins, 2.55, Baltimore Ravens: Scouting Report

DT DaVon Hamilton, 3.73, Jacksonville Jaguars: Scouting Report

OL Jonah Jackson, 3.75, Detroit Lions: Scouting Report

LB Malik Harrison, 3.98, Baltimore Ravens: Scouting Report

S Jordan Fuller, 6.199, Los Angeles Rams: Scouting Report

WR K.J. Hill, 7.220, Los Angeles Chargers: Scouting Report

DT Jashon Cornell, 7.235, Detroit Lions: Scouting Report

WR Binjimen Victor, UDFA, New York Giants: Scouting Report

DT Robert Landers, UDFA: Scouting Report

WR Austin Mack, UDFA, New York Giants: Scouting Report

OL Branden Bowen, UDFA, Carolina Panthers: Scouting Report

TE Rashod Berry, UDFA, New England Patriots: Scouting Report

LS Liam McCullough, UDFA, Las Vegas Raiders