

NFL Recap: How Did The Buckeyes Around The League Do In Week Seven?

After each week, Buckeye Sports Bulletin will look at how former Ohio State football players performed in their NFL games over the previous weekend. From Justin Fields to Malcolm Jenkins, there are quite a few Buckeyes around the league. We offer updates on all of them.

WASHINGTON FOOTBALL TEAM vs. GREEN BAY PACKERS

After a few lackluster performances for the Football Team — which may or may not be his fault — Terry McLaurin had one of his best games of the season on Sunday. The third-year wideout caught seven passes (12 targets) for 122 yards and a touchdown against the Packers.

The former Buckeye continues to live up to his “Scary Terry” nickname. He strikes fear into opposing defenses because of his quickness and polished route-running ability.

Chase Young and the rest of the Football Team’s defensive line performed well on Sunday. Young didn’t stuff the state sheet — he only had two tackles and one pass breakup — but he played a significant role in limiting Aaron Jones and the Packers’ run game.

Green Bay defeated Washington, 24-10.

DENVER BRONCOS vs. CLEVELAND BROWNS

Johnathan Cooper, a former Block “O” recipient at The Ohio State University, returned to the Buckeye State for a Thursday night matchup with the Browns.

The seventh-round pick (239th overall) in the 2021 NFL Draft recorded five tackles and three quarterback hurries in Cleveland. He made his presence known in the backfield, with Case Keenum using a few well-timed escapes to keep Cooper out of reach.

While Cooper and the Browns lost the game, 17-14, the defensive end is making a strong case for more playing time in Denver.

For the Browns, cornerback Denzel Ward made two tackles.

CINCINNATI BENGALS vs. BALTIMORE RAVENS

Through the first seven weeks of the season, the Cincinnati Bengals are one of the best teams in the AFC.

Yes, you read that right. The Bengals crushed the Ravens, 41-17, on Sunday afternoon, improving to 5-2 and taking possession of first place in the AFC North.

Cincinnati's improvement is due in large part to stellar play on defense. One player who consistently shows up on that side of the ball for the Bengals is Sam Hubbard. The former Buckeye made that clear on Sunday when he recorded five tackles, three quarterback hurries, 2 1/2 tackles for loss and 2 1/2 sacks.

Vonn Bell also played a significant role in the revitalization of the Bengals' defense. The veteran safety had five tackles on Sunday. Cornerback Eli Apple also added a tackle.
