

Ohio State Men's Basketball To Play Towson In 2021-22, Per Report

For four free issues of the print edition of Buckeye Sports Bulletin, no card required, sign up at the link here: <http://www.buckeyesports.com/subscribe-4issue-trial/>

Ohio State men's basketball is adding a home game against Towson to its 2021-22 schedule, according to a report by CBS Sports' Jon Rothstein.

Source: Ohio State will host Towson as part of its 21-22 non-conference schedule.

— Jon Rothstein (@JonRothstein) April 13, 2021

The Tigers struggled this past season, finishing with a 4-14 overall record and 3-9 record in the CAA Conference. They finished their year with a 69-48 loss to Elon, who is coached by former Ohio State assistant Mike Schrage, in the CAA tournament. Elon also has former Buckeye Andrew Dakich as director of basketball operations.

Towson did have a game scheduled against a Big Ten opponent last season - a Dec. 1 matchup against Maryland - but it was canceled.

Ohio State adds Towson to a non-conference schedule that also includes games in the Fort Myers Tip-Off, which also features Florida, Cal and Seton Hall.