A former five-star prospect from Bellflower (Calif.) St. John Bosco, Davis was named a first-team All-American by all five selectors that determine consensus and unanimous All-Americans, which also includes the Associated Press, American Football Coaches Association, Football Writers Association of America and The Sporting News.

Davis becomes the third Buckeyes to earn unanimous All-American honors over the last two seasons, joining former cornerback Jeff Okudah and defensive end Chase Young in 2019. He is the 33rd unanimous All-American in school history.
