

Ohio State Safety Jantzen Dunn Transferring To Kentucky

Former Ohio State safety Jantzen Dunn announced Sunday that he will be transferring to Kentucky for his three remaining seasons of eligibility.

New home! #GoBigBlue lets get to work! pic.twitter.com/4oqUHGAxuF

— Jantzen Dunn (@JantzenDunn) December 18, 2022

Dunn, who arrived at Ohio State in 2021 out of Bowling Green (Ky.) Warren, entered the portal on Dec. 13 after playing in just six games across two seasons with Ohio State. He redshirted last season for the Buckeyes after sustaining a lower-body injury and has only appeared in a special teams role this year for Ohio State.

Dunn was the third Buckeye to enter the transfer portal in recent weeks, joining safety Jaylen Johnson and linebacker Teradja Mitchell. Johnson has yet to find a transfer destination, while Mitchell will remain with Ohio State through the remainder of the season.