

Ohio State To Have Fan Cutouts In Stands For 2020 Season

There may not be any actual fans in the seats for Ohio State games after the Big Ten permitted attendance for the upcoming 2020 football season, but fans can still get their faces in Ohio Stadium another way.

Ohio State is offering up prices for fans to pay in order to get a cutout version of themselves in The 'Shoe for the Buckeyes' four home games this season.

The university is offering up prices of $50 to have a cutout located in the A-Deck, as well as a $75 offer to be put on the 50-yard line. There are a limited number of seats for the $75 version.

Students can also have their cutouts put in the student section for $25, and those will be located in the south stadium stands.

To get a cutout in Ohio State's home opener against Nebraska on Oct. 24, the deadline is Monday, Oct. 19 at noon. If that deadline is missed, the cutout can will be placed in the stadium for the next home game - a Nov. 7 matchup against Rutgers.
