Ohio State hosted its Skills/Big Man camp and extended offers to two campers — one who has long been on the Buckeyes' radar and another who broke out with an impressive performance in front of OSU's staff — in the 2021 class.

The first went to Dublin (Ohio) Coffman four-star safety A.J. Kirk, the younger brother of former Ohio State safety Mike Doss (1999-2002). The 6-0, 200-pounder is from the same high school as four-star all-purpose back Michael Drennen (5-10 1/2, 187), one of the Buckeyes' top targets in the 2020 class.

Kirk is 247Sports' No. 177 overall prospect and No. 5 safety in the country, as well as the No. 6 recruit in Ohio.
