

Zach Harrison Accepts Reese's Senior Bowl Invite

Ohio State defensive end Zach Harrison will participate in the Reese's Senior Bowl in Mobile, Ala., on Feb 4, the event announced on Monday.

Harrison had one of his most impactful seasons this year, amassing 30 tackles (6 1/2 for loss), three sacks, three forced fumbles, four pass breakups and an interception. The Lewis Center, Ohio, native will have the opportunity to build off of those lofty statistics in the College Football Playoff, as well.

As for his career, Harrison has tallied 102 tackles (24 for loss), 12 1/2 sacks and five forced fumbles. Harrison has also been adept at knocking down passes at the line of scrimmage, collecting 10 pass breakups and an interception during his time as a Buckeye.

Harrison is the first Buckeye to commit to the Senior Bowl, but defensive tackle Taron Vincent accepted an invite to the East-West Shrine Bowl on Dec. 2.
